

Well, whats been going on in my fish room, i shipped java moss...for the 1st time kinda scared not sure if it froze hope not...all the baby angelfish are growing really well...i have some DD blacks that look real real good i cant wait til summer time and they start pairing up..i bought some amazon swords so far so good...i made a co2 thing..thats working good also...and i made a blue light which cost me under $5 which i will blog about it maybe utube..i have been making a lot of utube videos..i like it its fun..didnt get a whole lot of things for black friday..i am adopting a family for xmas well 3 kids...Oh one cool thing my parents bought a lake house so i will be fishing all summer...well i might blog later this month if im not busy...but everyone have a safe and fun holiday...

Peace